By Associated Press.

Washington, July 1.—Secretary Lansing announced today that until more complete reports had been received from Ambassador Page at London on the torpedoing of the British liner Armenian, in which several Americans lost their lives Monday, the United States would take no action.

Latest news dispatches have caused officials to believe the sinking of the vessel was accomplished in accordance with international law, and that the United States might have no reason to take up the subject with Germany, except to verify through the Admiralty at Berlin the details of the Armenian's reported resistance.

Ambassador Page reported that the vessel was engaged in "Admiralty business," but this fact seems to be overshadowed, in the minds of officials here, by the reported resistance to capture.

There was a relaxation of tension in official quarters by the news that the vessel was apparently resisting capture, for what seemed to loom up as a possible complication in the pending negotiations over submarine warfare with Germany, appeared to be removed.

Avonmouth, England, July 1.—There were eleven Americans among the 19 members of the crew who lost their lives in the sinking of the Leyland Line freight steamer Armenian by the German submarine U-38 off Cornwall on Monday. Some members of the crew were killed outright when the German torpedo struck the ship.

When sunk by the German submarine the Armenian was carrying 1,422 mules from Newport News to Avonmouth, the animals to be used by the French armies in Belgium and France.

The vessel had a crew of 72 men and carried 96 men as mule tenders. The submarine was first sighted by the man at the wheel, and though the ship was pushed to the limit the mosquito craft rapidly overhauled her and commenced shelling.

The Armenian's efforts to keep her stern to the submarine were futile. The faster vessel circled the freighter and the German commander, speaking through a megaphone, ordered the Armenian's captain to surrender or he would sink the ship.

The skipper of the Leyland liner struggled hard to evade the undersea boat, but the latter dropped a shell through a skylight into the steamer's engine room putting the engine out of action. The Armenian then surrendered.

Lifeboats were lowered and the crew and some 70 mule tenders, nearly all Americans, scrambled into them. As one of the boats was being lowered, a shell from the submarine cut the falls of the boat. The occupants were spilled into the water and presumably were drowned.

Five boats loaded with survivors got away. The submarine then fired two torpedoes into the Armenian and the vessel sank within 30 minutes. The survivors rowed around in the boats until Tuesday morning, when a steam trawler landed them at Avonmouth.

Washington, July 1.—The Leyland Line steamer Armenian was "engaged on Admiralty business" when she was sunk by a German submarine. Ambassador Page at London reported to the State Department today he had been so informed by the British Admiralty.

Consul Armstrong at Bristol reported today that 21 of the 29 men lost with the Armenian were Americans. He said that as the Armenian carried no passengers, presumably all Americans who perished were members of the crew. The department expected further dispatches to show whether the ship was duly warned.

WILSON ORDERS INVESTIGATION

Cornish, N. H., July 1. President Wilson has instructed the State Department to make a full investigation of the sinking of the Leyland Line steamship Armenia by a German submarine, and to keep him completely informed of all developments. He remained in his study during the forenoon in order to be in constant touch with Washington.

MEXICAN SITUATION AGAIN VERY CHAOTIC

By Associated Press.

Washington, July 1.—Conditions in Mexico City, described as growing more chaotic, loomed largest today in the official view of the complex Mexican situation.

Latest reports from Mexico City which came by way of courier to Vera Cruz, and cabled to the State Department several days late, said that conditions bordering on anarchy prevailed there, with unchecked mobs rioting and looting stores.

President Wilson and Secretary Lansing have been advised of the situation.

Officers of the Zapata forces in Mexico City are charged with inciting the masses to violence, in dispatches dated June 25, received today by the State Department.

No prospect of relief for the starving civil population of Mexico is held out in the dispatches. The Carranza Agency announced today

President Wilson declined to comment on the incident and will await further information before deciding on the course of the American government.

It was declared authoritatively that, for the present, President Wilson had no thought of hurrying back to Washington. The investigation, which will be conducted through Ambassador Page at London and Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, will occupy several days it is expected.

BECKER GETS MORE TIME

By Associated Press.

Albany, N. Y., July 1.—Governor Whitman today granted Charles Becker, the former New York police lieutenant under sentence of death, a reprieve until July 26.

The governor said he would take no further action in the case than the granting of the reprieve. This means that if the United States Supreme Court does not interfere, Becker will have to die.

By Associated Press.

London, July 1.—The Russian lines are still being swung back in northern Galicia and southern Poland in an apparent effort by the Teutonic allies to clear the way for a determined move on Warsaw.

The Russians admit a continuation of the enemy offensive between the Bug and the Zieprz.

At the junction of the latter river with the Vistula in Poland lies Ivangorod, which Russian observers believe is the immediate objective of the Austro-German forces in this region. Ivangorod is little more than 50 miles southeast from the Polish capital.

Just at present the chief Russian holding power seems to be along the line of the western Bug and the Gnila Lipa in Galicia.

Petrograd also records a repulse of an attempt by the Teutons to cross the Dniester near Halicz.

Petrograd, July 1.—A German attack by water on Windau, in Courland on the Baltic just south of the Gulf of Riga was repulsed by the Russians. The official statement says five cruisers and many torpedo boats participated in the attack and an attempt is declared to have been made to land troops. One of the torpedo boats was blown up before the fleet retired.

London, July 1.—Eyes are now turned toward the Gallipoli peninsula and there are hints from the side of the allies that successes just reported are to be followed by still more determined attempts to carry dominating Turk positions.

The Italians claim a favorable outcome from actions in the Trentino situation and the repulse of attacks along the Isonzo.

FIVE STUDENTS CLAIM DIPLOMAS

Seventeenth Annual Commencement of Stinson Conservatory of Music Held Last Night, and Is Attended By Large Number of Lovers of Music

Winning plaudits from a large and appreciative audience including many from a distance, the seventeenth annual commencement of Stinson Conservatory passed off successfully at Conservatory Hall Wednesday night.

Five graduates, a quintet of pretty buds, all in white, wearing corsage bouquets of pink, presented by the faculty, occupied the center of the big stage elaborately decorated in a profusion of the season's flowers. They were Misses Martha McCoy, Mary Baughn, Dorothy Bush, and Gertrude Miller, in piano, and Miss Helen McCoy, in the school of expression.

After the invocation by Rev. Ross the program was opened by Misses Gertrude Miller and Mary Baughn in a beautifully played duet, "Le Soir"—Chaminade.

In an ambitious program of heavy numbers the musical graduates did up to date work of high degree. Their style, interpretation and poise were excellent.

Miss McCoy did her best work in Mozart's Concerto—D. Major—showing brilliant technical equipment and her smooth runs a feature of this difficult composition.

Miss Bush's playing of a Beethoven Concerto and Liszt number evinced style and natural gift of interpretation, and responded to artistic demands in a way that indicated possibilities of a promising future pianist.

Miss Baughn's Chaminade number was one of the best played numbers on the program, delightfully varied in style. The young student showed well developed and effective technique.

Miss Miller demonstrated herself a well equipped young pianist in her rendition of Weber's Concerto, the heaviest number on the program. It deserved special mention for beauty of tone, correct playing and good conception.

Miss Golda Ryan did efficient work as the accompanist.

Miss Stinson, who has had the class in training during the illness of her mother, is well satisfied with the development made.

The faculty regretted that on account of heavy work and lack of time the diplomas for the 1915 course were not presented, awaiting the completion of certain work in the course at an early date.

The one act drama, "The Other Woman," was beautifully presented by Miss Helen McCoy, the graduate in the school of expression, and Miss Esther Leland, a post graduate. Miss McCoy took the part of "Enid Vivian," an actress. Miss Leland played the dashing young widow, "Sylvie Grahame," and Miss Dorris Willis was a captivating French maid.

Miss Leland surpassed all former efforts. The climax and denouement required a bit of emotional acting that was very effective.

Miss McCoy, with her graceful manner and beautiful voice, made a charming actress, showing swift changes in emotional work. Her work in the climax was very difficult and exceedingly well sustained.

Taking it all in all it was a bit of acting worthy of the professional stage and its finished work gave effective demonstration of Mrs. F. G. Carpenter's fine training.

The rapt attention of the audience was its highest tribute.

With appreciative words of Miss McCoy's ability, Mrs. Carpenter, at the head of the school of expression, presented her diploma.

BANKS TO CLOSE

On behalf of the employees of the banks of the city, that they might enjoy Independence Day, all banks will close all day Monday, July 5th.

Book publishers wish to induce readers to buy books more liberally and propose a sort of propaganda to that end. One essential may be stated offhand—that is, to publish books worthy of permanent ownership. Books may be had at libraries to "skim through," and the meat of them is often spread broadcast in newspapers and reviews. To put from $1.50 to $5 in a book of ephemeral value is not to be thrifty. A book to be well worth that amount should have merit not alone for a day, but for a year, and even for a generation.

Every one of the Mexican generals agrees offhand with President Wilson's suggestion that rival parties should agree upon one man and support him through thick and thin, then he lies to the nearest looking glass.

SALARY BOOST FOR CARRIERS

Beginning today two more of the rural mail carriers out of this city receive $1200 per annum, making a total of eight carriers out of the ten who are receiving this amount.

The two new $1200 men are C. W. Roller, carrier on Route 6, and Harry Wyatt, on route 9, the former receiving a boost of $24 above his old salary and the latter $60 above the salary previously drawn.

The two carriers who do not have standard routes are drawing $1188 and $1080 per annum, respectively.

The Department at Washington is combining a great many routes over the country, but so far no such steps have been taken in Ohio. It is expected, however, that the same condition will soon prevail in this state. By the new plan carriers are given from 50 to 60 miles, covered by automobile and are paid from $1550 to $1800 per annum according to the amount of miles traveled and amount of mail delivered. The present standard route is 24 miles. Wherever it has been possible to abandon star routes this is being done and rural routes rearranged in order to take in the territory which was covered by the star route.

TRADE DOLLAR WILL BE LAUNCHED HERE SATURDAY

Dutch Treat Club Now Has Dollar Ready to Circulate and Every Person Is Expected to Keep It in Circulation and Report How It Was Received and for What Expended.

The Dutch Treat Club "Trade Dollar" will be placed in circulation Saturday morning, and the course of the dollar will be followed with a great deal of interest.

The "Trade Dollar" is an ordinary silver dollar, worth 100 cents, but is inclosed in a flat leather bag and securely sewed inside so that it will remain in place, while some two-thirds of the face of the coin is visible.

It is a genuine home booster dollar, and the inscription upon it describes its mission. On the one side the leather pouch bears the following inscription: "Put Me to Work in Washington C. H. I am the Dutch Treat Club Trade Dollar. Keep me Moving; Keep me at Home." On the reverse side is the inscription: "Spending Me Away From Washington C. H. to Save Money is like Stopping a Clock to Save Time." The reverse side also carries the slogan "Washington Welcomes U."

The dollar is to be kept moving and every person who receives it is to write a card or note to the Dutch Treat Club, care Y. M. C. A. telling how the dollar came into his or her possession and for what it was expended. In this manner the course of the coin can be traced and the information obtained will be given to the public from time to time.

It will not be necessary to expend the dollar for an entire dollar's worth of any article. It may be expended for a five cent purchase and the regular change will be received as the dollar goes into new hands.

The average person has never stopped to think what a dollar will do, and what it does do; the number of hands through which it passes and the wide variety of articles it purchases, as well as the really vital part it plays in every human life, every day.

The Dutch Treat Club urges the public to observe the instructions inscribed upon the leather containing the Almighty Dollar, to "Keep Me At Home; Keep Me Moving."

LEAVE SOON ON WESTERN TOUR

Evaneglist Frank A. Miller has just closed a month's Home Religion Campaign, which he has conducted in Greenfield, South Salem, Mowrytown, Williamsburg and here in the First Presbyterian church.

There have been many family Altars established in homes where they had not existed, and a number have confessed Christ and united with the churches during the month. The campaigns lasted three days in each place.

Rev. and Mrs. Miller start the first of next week for a two months' tour of the country, visiting both expositions, and visiting old friends and relatives. They will first visit their son in Alabama, then spend a day at New Orleans, and from there over the Southern Pacific go to Los Angeles, visiting a sister for a few days, then down to San Diego, remaining four days, then to San Louis, Obispo, spending a few days with a niece. From there to the San Francisco exposition two days, and then over the Feather River Canyon road to Salt Lake, where they spend a day with old friends. From there through the Grand Canyon of the Colorado to Pueblo, Colorado Springs, Denver and Omaha, stopping to visit a daughter in Nebraska then stopping at their old home in Elgin, Ills., to visit relatives, and home, via Michigan, where they will spend a little time with other relatives, reaching Washington C. H. about the first of September, when Mr. Miller opens his second year with the Presbyterian Synod of Ohio.

ALLIES WREST FOUR TRENCHES FROM OTTOMEN

Paris, July 1.—The ministry of marine issued the following: "On June 27 the British left wing, supported by our artillery, obtained a great triumph. After an intense bombardment the Brits carried by assault, at certain points, four Turkish lines of trenches, and advanced about 1,500 meters. On the extreme left they occupied a small elevation on the heights of Krithia and took 180 prisoners. A force of the enemy which delivered a counter attack was annihilated. The losses of the enemy have been considerable."

Announcement of the victory has been received with great rejoicing here and in London, for it has been weeks since any satisfaction has been gained from the dispatches from the Dardanelles. Instead, the operations have been severely criticised.

It was known that the allies were held by the Turkish forces very close to the point of landing and that they have been suffering terribly. Neither the warships which take up the daily round of bombarding nor the field artillery seemed to be able to cover the Turkish batteries or dislodge the troops.

Checking Up Lobbyists

The men who were registered during the last session of the state legislature as lobbyists have filed as the law requires, with the Secretary of State their reports of receipts and expenditures.

These statements are not being accepted as compliance with mere formalities of law and stamped as true.

It will be remembered that the lobbyists became so active at times last winter that a public scandal was threatened more than once. So much in evidence were the lobbyists that it became publicly known that sleuths were giving their operations the closest scrutiny and were making detailed reports in writing as to their observations to the attorney general.

While no action was taken at the time the lobbyists were "going at top speed," yet the ever watchful and justly suspicious attorney general was, it seems now, filing the reports of his sleuths away in his big safe for future reference.

Copies of the lobbyists reports now repose at the side of the reports made last winter, in the safe to which Attorney General Turner carries the combination.

He is going to check up the reports filed with the information he has on hand and make comparisons of receipts and expenditures and if incorrect reports have been filed, as is now intimated to be the fact, there is going to be some stirring times at the state capital.

Catching dishonest lobbyists, bribe givers and bribe takers is the specialty of the present occupant of the attorney general's office.

He cannot be too zealous in guarding the people's rights against the lobbyists and the people of Ohio will stand solidly behind him while he makes his "deadly comparisons" and praise him for every guilty lobbyist and guilty legislator that he lands behind the bars.

The scandals of a few years ago together with the present anti-lobby law had a quieting effect on the individuals who seek, for a consideration, to persuade law makers to act against the people's interests, but last winter the scare had worn off to some extent and it is possible that some lobbyists have gone too far.

Turner is going to find out.

Recognizing a Creditor Nation

The fact that the total imports of luxuries — precious stones, works of art, silk, raw and manufactured, and the like — have decreased in the last ten months sixty-six million dollars is worthy of consideration. While that decrease does not represent, by any means, the grand total of decrease in importation it is sufficient to prove that there is great retrenchment in the expenditures by Americans with European nations.

In the matter of luxuries alone the decrease in imports warrants the assertion that the annual saving will be, approximately eighty million dollars.

While this retrenchment in expenditures with European nations may be an enforced one, yet the fact that we are sending less of our money abroad stands out prominently as an encouraging feature.

It, in a measure, explains too why this nation is able to, and is actually, buying in the open market such vast quantities of American stocks and bonds, heretofore held in Europe.

Well informed national bankers estimate that the American securities taken by American investors last week alone, from European holders, aggregated twenty million dollars.

It does not require the exercise of any power of imagination to perceive just where a continuance of such conditions and the tremendous increase in our trade balance will lead.

The United States must, of necessity, soon become the great creditor nation of the world. Already rich beyond any other nation in resources, the people have learned to conserve those resources and to curtail their expenditures. The conflict in Europe has furnished to the people of the United States the opportunity to retain their own securities and to invest their money in the securities issued by the people of other nations.

It is estimated that this nation will, within the next twelve months, have an accumulated trade balance totaling two billion dollars, leaving a surplus of one billion five hundred million dollars for Americans to invest in European loans.

The prospect that this nation will soon become the great creditor nation with investments in many other nations seems now certain of realization.

Poetry For Today

Brave Love.
He'd nothing but his violin,
I'd nothing but my song;
But we were wed when the skies were blue
And summer days were long.
We sometimes supped on dewberries,
Or slept among the hay;
But oft the farmers' wives at eve
Came out to hear us play.
The world has aye gone well with us
Old man, since we were one;
Our homeless wandering down the lanes
It long ago was done.
But those who wait for gold or gear,
For houses and for kine,
Till youth's sweet spring grows
brown and sere
And love and beauty pine,
Will never know the joy of hearts
That met, without a fear,
When you had but your violin
And I a song, my dear.

Wounds of the Abdomen.
When a person has a bad wound of the abdomen the shock and the hemorrhage call for immediate treatment, together with attention to the open wound, and a doctor cannot be called too quickly. If he cannot come at once it cannot do any harm to elevate the foot of the bed and maintain the body heat by artificial means, such as hot bottles, mustard applied over the heart, and so on. It is also a good plan to give the sufferer a drink of hot coffee with or without other stimulants. By these means the patient can be helped to rally, so that when the doctor arrives he may be able to stand more vigorous treatment.

But about a year later, when he says goodby in the morning, she turns one side of her face to him and he pecks at it with his lips as if he was afraid he might touch it and get poisoned.
Next to paying an old bar bill, paying for a suit of clothes after it is worn out is the hardest job.

Why is it that you can't get a bald-headed man into a front seat in church and that you can't keep him out of one in a theater?

A woman and a phonograph can always speak for themselves.

A man never gets any credit. If he talks in his sleep and says nice things about his wife she knows that he is just pretending to be asleep and is handing out a little salve because he knows she is listening.

The reason why the debutante in a self made family likes to hear her mother tell people about the time when she took in washing is because it tickles her all over to hear her father tell his friends about how they used to live in one room and had to use the bed as a dining table.

There are not many sure things in the world. But one of them is that you will never get $1,000,000 by sitting down and figuring what you would do with it if you had it.

Lots of men who whip their children for telling lies will go out and use decoy ducks when they are hunting.

Any old time a notice states that there are a "few choice seats left." It means that darn few seats have been sold.

There are a lot of high toned Christians who hope that heaven will be a big place, because it would be very embarrassing to have to come into contact with a lot of common people up there.

SEEDS AND DOLLARS

Seed that is not planted does not grow. Dollars that are not banked do not increase. No farmer is so foolish as to think that a paper bag of watermelon seed, hanging from the rafters, will ever grow until he plants it.
Yet are you not expecting those dollars in that bureau drawer will grow without banking them? Dead seed and dead dollars bring no returns.

RODE FOR LIBERTY LIKE PAUL REVERE

Caesar Rodney Is One of America's Independence Day Heroes.

HOW the historians and romanticists have missed the true and dramatic story of Caesar Rodney's ride is one of the mysteries which surround the Declaration of Independence.
Thomas McKean, one of the three signers of the Declaration from Delaware, has given unassailable proof of the essential facts in the case of Caesar Rodney and his ride. According to letters written by him and particularly one to Caesar Rodney's nephew, McKean sent word by a horseman to Rodney, who was then ill at Byfield, one of his farms near Dover, Del., that his vote was absolutely necessary if freedom was to be proclaimed.

Pennsylvania and South Carolina had voted against independence. New York held aloof because her delegates had not received instructions from the assembly of that colony. Congress was in turmoil, the army panic stricken, the sentiment for submission to Great Britain growing stronger hourly in all the colonies. It was necessary that all the colonies should vote in the affirmative if independence was to be proclaimed.

In the vote that was taken in the statehouse (now Independence hall) on July 1 Delaware's vote was not cast, there being two of the three delegates present. Thomas McKean voted for freedom and George Read against it. Caesar Rodney, as has been said, was ill in his home. His affliction was a cancer, that had attacked his face to such an extent that he was compelled to wear a veil to conceal the fearful ravages of the disease. For this reason he had never married. The malady had progressed for four years at the time of these occurrences.

McKean, shrewdly calculating that if Delaware's vote were cast for independence on the following day Pennsylvania and South Carolina might be induced to change their decisions, determined upon the desperate expedient of sending for his sick and cruelly disabled colleague. Estimating at its true worth the patriotism and determination of Rodney, he instructed the messenger to arrange at his (McKean's) expense relays of horses to carry Rodney on his ride of seventy miles.

In spite of the terrific heat, the urging of relatives and the command of a nurse and a physician, who warned him the task might mean death, the patriotic Delawarean arose from his sickbed and set out for Philadelphia with the messenger. So eager and determined was he that his companion was soon left behind, and Rodney rode alone through the torture of that blistering July weather.

McKean relates that he met Rodney at the statehouse door as he dismounted and assisted him into the chamber. There, with the remnant of his strength, Caesar Rodney cast the vote of Delaware for independence.

It is McKean again, corroborated by Adams, Franklin and others, who relates that Edward Rutledge of South Carolina thereupon was deeply moved and changed the vote of his colony. After a stormy scene the Pennsylvania delegates who were opposed to the resolution declaring liberty removed themselves from the congress, and the patriotic faction, with Benjamin Franklin at its head, promptly cast the colony's ballot for independence.

The terrible strain of the ride told severely for a time upon Caesar Rodney, but he rallied and lived a few years longer, dying at Byfield in 1784 a serene, courageous death in his forty-sixth year.

Of all the signers of the Declaration Caesar Rodney is the only one of whom there is no portrait. The late Thomas F. Bayard of Delaware, United States senator and secretary of state, was one of those who held the opinion that a portrait showing his veiled face would appeal strongly to the patriotism of the American people.

John Adams has given an excellent description of Rodney in one of his letters to his wife. He shows the patriot as tall and excessively thin, due to the malady that killed him. His head, according to Adams, was abnormally small, scarcely larger than two big ap

ELECTRICAL EXPERT ADVISES BIG CONGRESS OF CITIZENS

With Respect to City Lighting—
Will Be Retained as Counsellor in Matter of Securing Lighting Contract.

An important gathering of leading citizens, close to fifty in all, marked the Thursday noon dinner of the M. C. A. Dutch Treat Club. The feature of the congress was a talk by Mr. H. Whitford Jones, expert electrical consulting engineer of Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. Jones was the guest of the Dutch Treat Club, at whose instance he comes to this city to advise with citizens and officials for the purpose of assisting them in securing the best available service and ratings in the framing of a new city lighting franchise.

Mr. Jones discussed at length the technical features of street lighting and of modern facilities of controlling it, also mentioning advantages to be gained by judicious selection of residential and private lighting systems.

Speaking on the subject of cluster lighting, Mr. Jones imparted some very useful information. He suggested that the city would do better by contracting on a basis of candle power consumption, instead of watts for one reason that watt consumption is very intricate and generally misunderstood by any but an expert.

Instead of the suggested system of a strong light at the top of each standard and weaker ones on the two side arms, he recommended the reverse, pointing to the fact that the greater part of the illumination would best be directed downward, instead of upward where it is lost.

He recommended also that instead of the suggested system of allowing the top bulbs of each standard to burn all night and the others to be turned off at a given time, the arrangement be made to allow all lights on certain posts to burn all night, the others to be turned off. He suggested that the all night lights be located at intersections and in places where the light is most necessary.

Among those present were Superintendent Clapp of the Washington Gas & Electric Company, members of the council and the various city officials.

History of Movement.

The history of the activities of local citizens and officials with regard to the forming of a new lighting contract for the city is, briefly, as follows:

Several weeks ago certain citizens conscious of the forth coming necessity on the part of the city of creating a new franchise to control the city street lighting, conceived the idea of incorporating into the franchise to be drawn up, if possible, provisions for the installation and maintenance of cluster lights in the city's business section, in view of the fact that Washington had become a city of goodly size and that cluster lights have been employed to agreeable advantage in neighboring municipalities.

These citizens, as a means of acquainting others with the possibilities of the cluster light system, organized automobile parties, and these visited London, where cluster lights were recently installed, and Dayton, which has an extensive system of this sort of lighting. At both places they conferred with lighting engineers and supervisors of the power concerns furnishing the light, and were well pleased with the outcome of their investigations.

The local city council favored the cluster lighting and the Y. M. C. A. Dutch Treat Club, composed of a large percentage of the important business and commercial men of the city, too, became interested in promoting the endeavor.

Recently bidding on the lighting contract for the city was received by council. The only bids presented were those of the local power plant, The Washington Gas & Electric Company, which has been supplying the city's light for a number of years.

The council, anxious to secure for the people of the city the best possible deal in the matter, in view of the fact that the contract would involve thousands of dollars, gladly accepted the support proffered by the Dutch Treat Club in arriving at an agreeable conclusion.

The outgrowth of this alliance was the appointment, a week ago, of a committee from the Dutch Treat Club to secure information with regard to the matter in question. This committee made a trip to Columbus

Monday of this week and there secured a conference with the State Public Utilities Commission. The commission advised the services of an expert electrical engineer, at the same time recommending Mr. Jones.

Mr. Jones was immediately engaged arriving here Wednesday evening. A short conference of the members of the Dutch Treat Club committee and Mr. Jones took place Thursday morning, and was followed by a trip about the city and examination by the expert of the locations of the street lights.

After this trip Mr. Jones was received at the power plant, examined its equipment and discussed features of the lighting company's bids with Superintendent Clapp.

The power company too, it would seem, has been busy with a consideration of the matter within the past few days, it being stated that two call meetings of its directorate have been held this week.

No Ill Feeling.

There has arisen an impression among those not closely in touch with the negotiations, that there is an ill feeling between the management of the power company and those who have been investigating on behalf of the city, but if such is the case there has certainly been no hint of it in the dealings of the principals.

The investigators make it plain that their action is purely a matter of business policy and their investigations, where they have touched directly with the power company officials, have been very cordially received by that body.

STATE NEARLY READY TO REST IN DENNER TRIAL

Two or Three Witnesses All the State Has to Offer Before Resting Case—Trial Delayed By Absence of Two Most Important Witnesses—Many Persons on Stand Since Wednesday Noon.

In the John Denner murder trial the State is nearly ready to rest its case, and court was adjourned from two until three o'clock Thursday afternoon in order that Drs. Stitt and Todhunter could reach the court room, Dr. Stitt being out of the city and Dr. Todhunter detained by a patient.

It was expected that the State would rest its case either late Thursday evening or early Friday morning, and the defense has a number of witnesses to examine.

Anna Bainter Jackson, sister of John and Jesse Denner and the wife of John Bainter at the time of his death, was placed upon the witness stand Wednesday afternoon, and told the story of what she knew of the crime. The story varied much from that previously told.

Mrs. Jackson related how her husband and two brothers went out after corn on the night of December 11 and the failure of her husband to return; how she was fastened in the car by the two brothers and led to believe that Bainter would kill her, and how she and Flora Denner, wife of the accused man, remained in a fodder shock part of the night and that she was urged to go away to save her life.

She did not recall being so frightened that she asked John Denner if he thought it safe to drive into town the morning following the crime, and that Denner showed her the gun which he carried and which it is claimed caused the death of her husband. She said Bainter had not been drinking much the night of the crime.

Letters, written by Flora Denner to the witness after the witness had gone to Vincennes, Ind., were submitted for identification. In the letters conflicting statements are alleged to have been made which caused the woman to suspicion foul play.

Mrs. Jackson later was recalled to the stand and identified the gun exhibited as that owned by John Denner at the time of the crime.

Harry Scott, called by the state, proved to be the wrong Scott, and was discharged. A man named Henderson was placed upon the stand but his testimony was not admitted. Considerable annoyance was caused by some of the state's witnesses not being in the court house when wanted, and as a result the witnesses who testified were not always the ones first called for.

Os Bainter, brother of the man who was killed, was the last witness placed upon the stand before adjournment until Thursday morning. Bainter said he was with his brother in this city the day before the night of the crime, and that they took lunch at Hooker's. He said that his brother paid for the lunch and that the amount was 30c. Bainter further said that his brother pulled a bag from his pocket and exhibited a roll of bills as thick as his wrist, and had said that the roll contained $294. The amount stated was ordered stricken out as incompetent. He said his brother had promised to meet him next day, but he never saw his brother until the remains were unearthed and brought to this city in March. An amusing incident occurred just before he was dismissed. Counsel for the defense insisted upon knowing what change was used by John Bainter in paying for the lunch. The witness replied, "Two fifteen-cent pieces."

Thursday morning among the witnesses placed upon the stand were Mary and Kate Dore, upon whose farm the crime was committed; Isaac Crispin, a farm hand on the Dore place; James Rose, Frank Baughn, Chas. Bagle, Til Mustine, Sheriff Jones, Patrolman Baughn.

Sheriff Jones identified a letter written by John Denner and the notes John Denner is alleged to have written to Jesse Denner while in jail and in which Jesse was implored not to tell about the crime. Sheriff Jones was sure that Denner had written the notes, and said they were given to him by Jesse Denner, and that it would not have been difficult for John to pass the notes to Jesse.

Coroner C. A. Teeters, Andy Nelson, Noah Bell and Mrs. Jackson were the last witnesses on the stand before recess was taken Thursday afternoon.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Yawning as a Stimulant.

Dr. Naegeli, professor of medicine at Liege university, commends the practice of yawning as a physical reviver. A good yawn, the professor maintains, is excellent for the lungs and for all the breathing organs as well. But there is an art in yawning, he says, just as there is an art in breathing. Every yawn should be as deep as possible, so as to bring all the muscles of the throat and chest into action, and also to fill the lungs with a current of fresh air. Dr. Naegeli has known of many cases in which a sore throat has been alleviated by persistent yawning.

SENT UNDER
BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

Washington, July 1. — Nineteen Americans, most of them negroes, are missing as the result of the torpedoing of the British steamship Armenian, bound from Newport News, Va., to Avonmouth, England, with a cargo of horses and mules for the English army. The vessel was destroyed by the German submarine U-38, according to state department advices.

Final operation in the case will be suspended in official quarters here until the state department has received from Consul Armstrong information making clear points now in doubt. Chief among these is the question whether the Armenian was under charter to the British government. There is no doubt here that if this was the case, the Germans will promptly allege that the Armenian was practically a British auxiliary transport in the service of the enemy government, and therefore liable to destruction by German naval forces wherever encountered. Washington officials admit that there is some force to this contention, but assert on the other hand that the Germans hardly have the right to ignore the obligation of putting the crew of the Armenian in a place of safety before sinking the vessel, unless it could be proved that the Armenian actually had the status of a government ship.

Messages Not Clear.

There is some confusion in Consul Armstrong's messages. He makes it clear that the vessel was torpedoed at 8 p. m., last Monday, twenty miles west by north of Trevoze Head, Cornwall, and that twenty-nine men were lost and ten injured. His list of the Americans missing is not clear, however. It is not certain whether all were negroes or not, and the full names and addresses of those mentioned are not given in all cases. He speaks of four of the Americans reported as missing as having been picked up later by the submarine, while other survivors were brought into Bristol after having been picked up by a Belgian trawler and British destroyers.

That the case of the Armenian, even if all the points now in doubt are resolved in favor of the vessel and against the German submarine, will not arouse popular feeling in this country to the extent that has been the case regarding other Americans who have been made victims of German submarines, is the expectation here. It is not doubted that public opinion will incline to the belief that the negroes and possibly other Americans lost with the Armenian knew full well the dangers to which they were exposed, and therefore should not have taken service on her unless prepared to accept all the consequences. That the Armenian was carrying horses and mules for the British army is taken for granted, and it is thought likely that this will prove a fact looming large in the public mind. Finally, it is expected that if reports show that the Armenian was under charter to the British government, many Americans will agree with the view that Germany will undoubtedly take, namely, that she was practically an auxiliary transport of the British government.

Shot Fired From Rifle.

From the messages received it appears that in addition to the torpedo at least one shot was fired from a disappearing rifle. The consul's report said the wireless house was "taken by second shot."

It was not made clear whether the Armenian was first ordered to halt and resisted capture, requiring a second shot, or whether the submarine attacked without warning. The fact that the number of the submarine was given indicated that she had come to the surface to make the attack.

Mules are contraband of war, according to all the lists of the belligerents, so there can be no doubt as to the contraband character of Armenian's cargo.

The list of missing Americans made up from Consul Armstrong's reports follows: E. Williamson, St. Louis; J. M. Monroe, New Orleans; B. M. Granberry, Montgomery, Ala.; S. R. Sutton, Cartersville, Va.; Harry Stone, New York city; —Brown, cattle carter, Harrisburg, Pa.; Dr. J. S. Vico, Porto Rico; R. H. Brooks (or West), chief foreman of muleteers, London, naturalized American; Henry, Leroy, Jackson and Speed, Richmond, Va.; Vell, Foley and Little, Newport News, Va.; King, Small, Rickert and Oakes, Norfolk, Va.; Smith, Portsmouth, Va., all negro muleteers.

Buildings and Grain Burn.

Bowling Green, O., July 1. — Seven buildings on Farmer County Commissioner M. R. Gorrill's farm, near Bowling Green, were burned to the ground when a large barn caught fire from spontaneous combustion. Sixty tons of corn, 1,000 bushels of oats, 25 tons of new hay and $500 worth of machinery were consumed. The loss is estimated at $5,000.

HOSPITAL TO OPEN AT ONCE

Columbus, July 1.—Lima state hospital for treatment of insane of criminal tendencies will be thrown open at once for the admission of patients. It will not be turned over formally by the building commission to the state board of administration until Oct. 1. In the meantime it will be practically under the board of administration, as it will be operated by Superintendent Charles F. Clark, an appointee of the board, and his corps of assistants. The staff of physicians and the employees, all of whom are civil service appointees, have been named and are on the ground. This was amicably and unanimously decided at the conference of the two boards called by Governor Willis, and at which he presided.

Decision to open the hospital will relieve the pressure at the other hospitals. Patients will be admitted as rapidly as they can be cared for. Two hundred and fifty will be transferred at once and 200 more can be provided for in two weeks. Admissions will follow up to the capacity of 1,200.

C. H. & D. BRANCH
ORDERED SOLD

Cincinnati, July 1.—The sale of the Cincinnati Indianapolis and Western railway, a branch of the Cincinnati Hamilton and Dayton system, extending from Hamilton to Springfield, Ill., is ordered in a decree entered by Judge Hollister in the United States district court here. The judgment against the road is for $5,075,898, which is the aggregate of principal and interest due on the bonds for which the Equitable Trust company is trustee.

ROBELES STORY IS QUESTIONED

Washington, July 1.—The announcement by General Robeles, representing Former Provisional President Eulalio Gutierrez, that he had arranged for a peace conference between Generals Villa and Obregon, attracted much attention here. Obregon is in command of the Carranza forces. In some quarters the El Paso reports of Robeles' statement were declared to be not worthy of consideration. It was said that Robeles represents no one of any present consequence in the situation. In other quarters it was thought possibly there might be something going on in Mexico to support his assertions.

All of Carranza's advisers are in favor of making some concessions in order that the Washington government may not be able to place on the first chief the onus of continuing the present strife and attendant intolerable conditions in Mexico.

DENOUNCES HIGH SCHOOL DANCES

Cedar Point, O., July 1.—Too many high schools of the state have licentious modern dances as features of their social work, declared Principal Albert Powell of Hartwell high school at the Ohio State Teachers' association. The speaker asserted that high school authorities should personally take mothers to task for allowing their children in these schools to wear low neck dresses and thin transparent shirtwaists.

MEXICO CITY RAVAGED BY ZAPATISTAS

Washington, July 1.—The Carranza agency made public a dispatch from the Carranza authorities at Vera Cruz stating that serious looting by the Zapatistas is reported going on in Mexico City.

This dispatch has not yet been confirmed by advices to the state department, but all official reports in the last few days have indicated that serious disorders by the Zapatistas in the capital might be expected. These were especially to be feared, it was said, if the Zapatista forces outside the city suffered reverses at the hands of General Gonzales, the Carranza commander leading the attack on the city.

The state department has had no direct communication with Mexico City for twelve days. No steps have been taken to bring about the relief of the Americans and other foreigners there, though the meager reports thus far received indicated that the conditions were intolerable, the dangers from the fighting being added to by a lack of food and absence of any means of communication.

Americans arriving from the south bring the report that Aguas Calientes is virtually in the hands of the Carranzistas. Although some of Villa's troops still remain in the town, the bulk of the conventionalist army has withdrawn to a point of safety on a ranch five miles northward. The advance guard of General Obregon's army, they say, is camped along the river bed, four miles south of Aguas Calientes.

PROGRAM OF
TAFT LEAGUE

New York, July 1.—The league to enforce peace, a newly formed organization of which ex-President Taft is the head, has adopted the following program after a meeting of the executive committee: First, an international court to try all justiciable questions; second, a council of conciliation for the consideration of nonjusticiable questions; third, the use of joint economic pressure and military force against a signatory beginning hostilities contrary to the terms of the alliance; fourth, the formulation and adoption of a code of international law.

OWNERS LOSE
$1000 A DAY

Washington, July 1.—The American embassy in London is forwarding to Washington complete statistics of all American vessels and American-owned cargoes detained by the allies, showing that in nearly every instance the owners are losing at least $1,000 daily on each vessel. Besides these statistics the president will find awaiting him on his return to Washington one of the largest accumulations of protests ever seen at the executive offices. Most of the writers want a special session of congress and a munitions embargo unless the allies end their "illegal blockade." The president is known to be unalterably opposed to a special session unless vital American interests are threatened.

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL SEEK DETAILS

Cornish, N. H., July 1. — President Wilson was informed of the sinking of the Dominion liner Armenian by a German submarine and of the fact that a number of Americans were reported lost. It was said that he would wait for full official information before deciding what course to pursue but that a thorough investigation would be conducted.

SPRINGFIELD MOVED BY DIVORCE ACTION

Springfield, O., July 1.—Springfield society was stirred when Mrs. Pearl C. Harwood, one of the wealthy matrons of the city, began suit for divorce against her husband, Frank C. Harwood, charging him with improper conduct with various women. An effort was made to serve the injunction on Harwood, but he had left the city.

$1,635,000 Hidden
In This Year's Goodyear Tires

Here are amazing facts:
Goodyear Fortified Tires contain five costly features found in no other tire. They have other features not common.

If we omitted those features, this year's probable output would cost us $1,635,000 less. We could add that much to our profits. And you would never know it until troubles came.

This year's improvements alone will cost us $500,000 yearly. Most of this goes into extra rubber—all into extra.

And weshall spend on research $100,000 this year to find other betterments still.

Fortified Tires
No-Rim-Cut Tires—"On-Air" Cured
With All-Weather Treads or Smooth

Users Save
$5,000,000
Yet our 1915 price reduction—made February 1st—will save Goodyear users about $5,000,000 this year. And that was our third reduction in two years, totaling 45 per cent.

These extra features—used by us alone—will save users millions more.

That's why Goodyears dominate. They have long outsold any other. They are gaining new users faster than we can supply them. We hope, for your own sake, that they'll soon win you. Any dealer will supply you.

HEZEKIAH'S MEMORY.

It Was Subjected to a Severe Test, but It Stood the Strain.

I once heard of an old negro named Hezekiah, who, it was said, had the most wonderful memory ever known to man. Indeed, it was so great that the devil, it is said, was envious of it and often dreamed of how much better he could conduct the affairs of his dominion at home and abroad if he only had Hezekiah's memory.

Hezekiah had let it be known that if at any time anybody should ever catch him forgetting anything that somebody could have his power of memory. This is where the devil saw his chance and laid his plans. So one day the "old scratch" dressed himself in citizen's clothes and approached Hezekiah where he was plowing in his field. Each greeted the other and passed the compliments of the day; then presently the devil said:

"Hezekiah, of all the good things that there are in the world to eat, what one thing do you like best?"

After a moment of reflection Hezekiah replied, "Chicken."

Without further words the devil turned and walked away. He stayed away from Hezekiah for twenty years. Then one morning somewhat as before he approached him as he was there at work in his field. He looked at him for a moment and said, "How?"

Hezekiah looked up, scratched his head, smiled a little and replied, "Fried."—Birmingham News.

Rules on the Clermont.

At the head of regulations for Fulton's "North river steamboat" (Clermont) was this paragraph: "The rules which are made for order and neatness in the boat, are not to be abused. Judgment shall be according to the letter of the law. Gentlemen wishing well to the public and useful an establishment, will see the propriety of strict justice, and the propriety of the left impudience on the purse or feelings of any individual."

One of the rules on the Clermont read: "It is not permitted for any person to lie down in a berth with their boots or shoes on under a penalty of one dollar and a half and half a dollar for every half hour they may offend against this rule."

"Now, in the course of this play," said the manager, "you are expected to do several funny falls. How are you on falls?"

MODES OF BURIAL.

Customs Vary Vastly in the Matter of Posture and Direction.

The modes of burial differ widely among various peoples, from the rudest ceremonies and methods of the wandering tribes to the ornate, impressive, reverent services of "the heir of all the ages in the foremost files of time."

Among some the dead are buried lying, others sitting, as is the case with several of the Indian tribes, and instances are related where warriors or leaders in the nations have been buried seated upon their favorite war horses, as was done with the famous Blackbird, the chief of the once powerful Omahas.

But there is a remarkable agreement of custom for the practice of placing the body east and west. Sometimes the body is placed with the head to the east and sometimes to the west. It is held by certain writers that this custom is due to solar symbolism, and to the head is placed to the east or to the west according as the dead are thought of in connection with the sunrise, the reputed home of the deity, or the sunset, the reputed home of the dead.

There are, however, some tribes that lay their dead north and south, and others bury men with the face to the north and women with the face to the south, while among some of the African tribes, if one happens to die away from his home, he is buried facing his native village.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

RUSS RIGHT THREATENED BY TEUTONS

London, July 1.—The Austro-German steam roller continues to crush the Russian opposition in the southeastern section of the eastern battle front, according to dispatches received from Petrograd, Berlin and Vienna.

So steadily have the Teuton forces progressed on all these fronts that there are indications that a wedge is being driven through the Russian right wing, isolating that section from the main armies of Grand Duke Nicholas falling back from Lemberg. The wedge appears to be going through by way of Rawa Ruska and the Russian right is being turned and driven north through Poland by way of the forests to the north of the Tanew river district.

Except that such a movement, successfully driven home, would break the continuity preserved by the grand duke along the entire front in this section, no immediate danger to the forces is feared. The Russian right can retire towards Warsaw, where it will effect a junction with the defensive lines which have been holding positions in the Pilitz river section for months.

Although they are falling back, the army of General Ivanoff is still putting up a hard resistance in the Gaila Lipa river section, and they are falling back upon Tarnopol, which is the last of the larger towns of Galicia in Russian hands. This is to be the next position attacked by the Germans, and it is doubtful if the Russians will endeavor to hold it. They are simply falling back, destroying all railroads, bridges and roads as they go.

Frohman's Shyness.

When David Belasco and Charles Frohman made their joint production of "A Celebrated Case" they sat together among the audience the first night. After the third act the audience called for them.

"You take the call," said C. F., shrinking back.

"Not without you," was Belasco's reply.

"But I have never gone before the curtain in my life."

"But I can't without you."

"I am the proprietor of this theater," returned Mr. Frohman, "and you must do as I tell you."—New York World.

Doing Her Best.

Mrs. Lambert laid down the evening paper, looked across the library table at her husband and remarked:

"Really, some of the things you read seem almost incredible. After all, one-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives."

"Never mind," replied the brute, "that's certainly no fault of yours."—New York Times.

In strong contrast with the volume of peace talk going the rounds the suggestion of a peace union of all American republics sounds practical and full of promise.

CHINESE HUMOR.

The Story of the Careless Man and His Puzzled Servant.

There was a man who was careless and unobserving. Once, when he was going abroad, he hastily pulled on his shoes, ready to hasten away, when, to his surprise, he found that one of his legs had suddenly become longer than the other.

He was both puzzled and frightened, for he said to himself: "What can be the matter? When I last walked my legs were the same length. How queer it is! I have met with no accident nor has any one cut a piece from my foot palm."

He felt his legs and then his feet to solve the mystery. At last he discovered the mistake to be in his shoes, for he had put on one shoe with a thick sole and one with a thin sole.

"These shoes are odd ones and not a pair," said he. So he called loudly for his servant and ordered him quickly to change his boots.

The servant went into the room to bring the master's boots, but after a little time came back with a much puzzled expression on his face. His master sternly demanded the boots for which he had sent him, but received for his answer:

"Dear master, it is very strange, but there is no use for me to change your boots, for when I examined the pair of boots in the room I found that they are just like the pair you have on, for one has a thick sole and the other a thin sole."—Chinese Fun and Philosophy, in St. Nicholas.

Those Impudent Sagas!

Mrs. Eddy had suddenly become wealthy through the death of an old uncle and had begun to climb into society. She endeavored to create the impression that her new manner of living was nothing unusual to her.

One afternoon she became engaged in conversation with a prominent woman.

"Are you familiar with the Norwegian sagas, Mrs. Eddy?" queried the woman.

"Indeed, no; not the least bit!" replied Mrs. Eddy hastily. "I always make the servants know their places."—New York Times.

A Queer Wooden Flower.

A queer wooden flower is to be found in Guatemala. This flower is called the rose of hell from the fact that it grows on the sides of Mount Agua and round the soiled edges of the volcano of Fuego. It has four distinct petals, the outsides of which are covered with bark like that of a tree. The stem, usually about a foot high, is of solid wood covered with bark. The flower measures nearly a foot across.

She Didn't Understand.

"Have you ever read Thannatopsis?" "Sis?" exclaimed the young lady indignantly. "How dare you address me so familiarly?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Newspaper Advertising

Goes direct to the people and the people constitute the buying public. Newspaper advertising not only talks but it emphasizes; it has the undivided attention of the reader and covers a field no salesman can hope to reach. There are many styles in newspaper advertising and the small announcement, which costs only five cents, is just as effective in its way as the larger one, which costs proportionately more. The benefits to be derived can not be measured by the size of the ad, for the very good reason that the small, inexpensive announcement invariably proves effective. Newspaper advertising costs from five cents up to any price the advertiser desires to pay.

A beautiful home wedding uniting two old and well known families of the Jeffersonville community, was celebrated Wednesday evening, at half past six o'clock, when Miss Corne Conner, youngest daughter of Mrs. James R. Conner, became the bride of Mr. Clarence Allen, youngest son of Mrs. George Allen.

By happy coincidence the ceremony was performed on the marriage anniversary of the bride's mother. It was witnessed by fifty guests at the home of the bride near Jeffersonville.

A wealth of summer bloom filled the rooms, roses and sweet peas in shades of pink and white predominating, and smilax gracefully draping the doors and windows.

A mantel in the front parlor had been banked to the ceiling with maple boughs, asparagus vine and Dorothy Perkins roses, and from it extended floral canopy making a lovely bridal bower. As the hour for the nuptials approached Miss Lillian Conner, of Jamestown, a cousin of the bride, sang sweetly "Until" and "Because God Made Thee Mine."

She was accompanied by Mrs. Jess Shonaker, of Los Angeles, Cal., who followed the song with the Lohengrin march.

Miss Florence King, the bride's niece, was the only maid and carried the ring. Dr. Walker, of the Ohio Wesleyan University, and Rev. Wishon, of Jeffersonville, awaited the young couple and performed an impressive ring ceremony.

The bride never looked more beautiful than in her bridal attire of white voile, with bolero and insets of Baby Irish lace, and sash girdle of white satin. She carried a superb shower bouquet of Bride's roses, erb shower bouquet of Bride's roses, lilies of the valley and fern, falling to the bottom of her skirt.

The pretty maid wore white embroidered erepe voile, with bands of Irish lace, pink satin girdle and carried pink roses.

Congratulations followed Mendisson's march and then the bridal party led the way to the dining room for an elegant wedding supper.

Mrs. Ione Bryant catered. At the bridal table, tastefully embellished in pink and white, were seated the bride and bridegroom, Mrs. James R. Conner, Mrs. George Allen, Dr. Walker, Mr. Fred Conner, brother of the bride, Rev. and Mrs. Wishon, Miss Florence King and Mr. Almer Ritenour.

Miss Helen Dill found the ring, Mr. Fred Conner the dime, Miss Lillian Conner the thimble and Miss Lou Eva Jacks, of Xenia, the collar button.

The bride gave her maid, the musicians and Mrs. Wm. Dill, who anticipated the wedding by giving her a miscellaneous shower, silver tea spoons.

Mrs. Conner received in a handsome gown of grey crepe de chine, with trimmings of white chiffon and silver lace.

Mrs. Allen, mother of the bridegroom, wore black lace. Assisting in the hospitalities were Mrs. Bennett King, of this city, and Miss Florence Conner, sisters, Miss Clara Peele, of Wilmington, and Miss Forest Allen, of Milledgeville.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen expect to take a lake trip in the near future and upon their return go to house-keeping on the Allen farm.

The bride, a very attractive girl, who has been teaching since leaving Ohio Wesleyan University two years ago, was as popular in her profession as she has been in social circles of Jeffersonville.

The bridegroom an O. S. U. Man, a sterling young farmer, also counts his friends by the score and the marriage is attended with good wishes galore.

The following is in part from a Kenton paper concerning the marriage of Mr. Will Summers, a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Summers of Jackson, who is in charge of the branch music store at Washington C. H.

In the presence of a company of thirty friends, Miss Katherine Moses became the bride of Will E. Summers at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Enoch R. Moses of west Railroad street, Wednesday evening.

Miss Moses who has been employed as bookkeeper and stenographer at the Kenton Marble and Granite Works, will receive sincere congratulations from a large number of admiring friends because of her estimable character and pleasant personality. Mr. Summers, who was formerly floor-walker at Schick's Dry Goods Store of Grafton is now proprietor of a music store in Washington C. H., where he is fast becoming a prominent business man. He also has many Kenton friends who will wish him well.

Miss Nell Stuckey entertained with a jolly slumber party and supper, preceded by a photo theater party, in honor of Miss Pauline Adams, of St. Louis, Mo., Wednesday evening.

o'clock dinner of Wednesday evening tendered to Miss Mary Alice Culhan upon her departure to Columbus to take the trained nursing course and Miss Marjorie Smith, of Akron, at the home of Miss Margaret McDonald.

The club colors, silver and pink, and the club flower, sweet peas, were artistically used in decoration, and the table was lighted by candles in crystal sticks, garlanded with smilax.

The favors were clusters of sweet peas tied with silver gauze.

An elaborate four-course dinner was served and after it the girls merrily toasted the honor guests and the club.

Miss Jean Fitzgerald made a charming toast mistress.

Dancing and music wound up the evening.

Mrs. S. E. Simmons, of Clinton avenue charmingly entertained the Social Club Wednesday. The afternoon pleasures included music and a guessing contest in which Mrs. A. A. Hyer won first prize and Mrs. Frank Brakefield second.

Afterwards the hostess served refreshments, consisting of ice cream, cake and punch.
